

Elite Touch Renovations — Competitor Review Analysis & Content Plan

Prepared for: Elite Touch Renovations (elitetouchrenovations.au) — Sydney, NSW

Method: Identified the top 3 local Google competitors via Google Search, pulled their Google Business Profile reviews via Chrome, and extracted recurring questions, pain points, and objections. Those insights are converted below into ready-to-use blog topics and FAQ content.

Core service: bathroom, ensuite, powder room and bathroom+laundry renovations across Sydney metro.

Top 3 Competitors Identified (search: "bathroom renovation sydney")

Business	Rating	Reviews	Notes
Luke's Renovations	4.8	195	St Peters NSW. Strongest theme: fixed timelines ("2 weeks"), trade coordination, first-time-renovator support.
Passion Built Bathroom Renovations	4.9	152	Run by "Dylan". Praised for communication and price; a public Facebook complaint alleges missing waterproofing certificate/warranty on one job.
Clearview Renovations	4.9	71	Strathfield South NSW. Praised for professionalism and handling full house/strata renovations, including layout changes and approvals.

What the Reviews Reveal: Common Questions, Pain Points & Objections

- Fixed timelines vs open-ended renovations — an overwhelming theme across Luke's Renovations reviews is jobs "completed on budget and in just two weeks as promised." The implied objection: fear that a bathroom reno will drag on for months, as renovations are notorious for doing.
- Waterproofing certification — a public Facebook complaint about a competitor ("no waterproofing certificate or warranty") shows this is a genuine, high-stakes objection. Buyers are increasingly aware that uncertified waterproofing can cause leaks, disputes, and resale problems.
- Fixed written quotes vs vague verbal estimates — reviewers repeatedly credit renovators for "a clear process" and detailed quoting up front, implying customers have been burned by scope creep or surprise costs elsewhere.
- First-time renovator anxiety — several reviews specifically thank the team for "taking the time to answer all our questions as first time renovators," showing many customers feel out of their depth and want hand-holding.
- One team coordinating all trades — praise for renovators who "run a tight ship" coordinating plumbers, tilers, waterproofers and electricians suggests customers fear having to project-manage multiple tradespeople themselves.
- No hard sell / trustworthy sales process — phrases like "no hard sell, just an honest conversation" appear in multiple reviews, indicating customers are wary of pushy sales tactics common in the renovation industry.
- Handling surprises found during demolition — reviews mention unexpected challenges (skylights, structural issues) being managed smoothly, suggesting customers worry about scope and cost blowouts once walls are opened up.
- Strata/apartment approvals — one competitor's marketing highlights "Strata Approval, Slab Scan, Core Holes" as selling points, showing this is a real pain point for apartment owners unsure how approvals work.
- Value for quality — reviewers value "quality workmanship, clear communication, proper waterproofing, licensed trades" over the cheapest price, and explicitly warn that "cheap can end" badly — a useful trust angle.

Blog Post Topics for elitetouchrenovations.au

How Much Does a Bathroom Renovation Cost in Sydney in 2026? — Addresses the universal first question and sets transparent expectations.

Fixed Quote vs Verbal Estimate: What to Ask Before You Sign a Renovation Contract — Targets the scope-creep/vague-estimate objection found across competitors.

Waterproofing Certificates Explained: What Every Sydney Bathroom Reno Needs — Directly answers the most serious objection uncovered (uncertified waterproofing complaint).

How Long Does a Bathroom Renovation Really Take? Why Some Drag On for Months — Uses the "fixed timeline" theme as a differentiator against slower competitors.

First Time Renovating? Here's Exactly What Happens, Step by Step — Speaks directly to first-time-renovator anxiety.

Ensuite vs Full Bathroom vs Powder Room Renovation: Cost & Scope Compared — Matches Elite Touch's exact service menu to buyer research queries.

Bathroom + Laundry Combo Renovations: Is Combining the Two Worth It? — Promotes a specific Elite Touch service while answering a real customer question.

What Happens If We Find a Problem Once Demolition Starts? — Preemptively answers the "scope blowout" fear revealed in reviews.

Renovating a Bathroom in a Strata Apartment: Approvals, Slab Scans & What to Expect — Targets apartment owners, a distinct and underserved audience.

How to Choose a Bathroom Renovator in Sydney Without Getting Burned — Comparison-style post building trust via licensing, certificates and fixed quotes.

FAQ Section for elitetouchrenovations.au

Q: How much does a bathroom renovation cost in Sydney?

A: Cost depends on layout changes, fixtures and finishes, but most full bathroom renovations range from the low tens of thousands upward. Book a free on-site measure for a fixed, itemised quote — not a rough verbal guess.

Q: Do you provide a fixed quote or just an estimate?

A: You receive a fixed-scope written quote before work begins, so there are no surprise costs partway through your renovation.

Q: Is your waterproofing certified?

A: Yes. All waterproofing is completed to AS 3740 standard and backed by a compliance certificate, which protects you against leaks and is essential if you ever sell the property.

Q: How long will my bathroom renovation take?

A: Most single bathroom renovations are completed within a few weeks under a clear, structured program — we set a timeline upfront and stick to it rather than letting the job drag on.

Q: Do you handle strata or apartment approvals?

A: Yes, we can assist with strata approval documentation, slab scans and core hole works required for apartment renovations.

Q: Are you licensed and insured?

A: Yes — we hold NSW Builder Licence 475204C and full insurance cover.

Q: What warranty comes with the renovation?

A: We back our work with a 10-year workmanship warranty.

Q: Can I get a free on-site measure and quote?

A: Yes, we offer a free on-site measure across the Sydney metro area with no obligation.

Q: Will one team manage all the trades on my job?

A: Yes — we coordinate plumbing, tiling, waterproofing and electrical work as one managed project, so you don't have to schedule or supervise separate tradespeople yourself.

Q: What happens if you find an issue once demolition starts?

A: We inspect thoroughly before quoting to minimise surprises, and if an issue is uncovered during demolition, we discuss it and any cost or timeline impact with you before proceeding — never after the fact.

How to Use This

- Publish the FAQ section directly on the homepage or a dedicated FAQ page — it doubles as long-tail SEO content and pre-handles sales objections.
- Turn each blog topic into a 600–1000 word post; the objection each one targets is noted alongside the title so the angle is clear before writing.
- Revisit competitor reviews quarterly — new reviews often surface new objections worth answering in fresh content.